A walk to Aberdeen along the Pokfulam road.

There is much enjoyment to be gained by strolling along the Pokfulam road, and the fresh air being highly beneficial, the exercise is to be commended.

On the 5th. day of the 5th. month, that is the dragon-boat or Summer festival, I took a brisk walk along the Pokfulam Road to Aberdeen at 9 A. M. to see the dragon boat racing.

The road is under the shade of big trees, and one side is very near to the sea. I found the sky perfectly blue, dotted here and there with white fleecy clouds, presenting a magnificent appearance like that of beautiful lakes with isles scattered in them.

Turning my eyes towards the sea, I found it clear and quiet, Some shady bathing-places beneath willow-trees with branches dipping into the water, kept tempting and urging those passers-by, who were walking and feeling very tired, to plunge in their cool waters. A group of children were swimming, while some gathered choice pebbles, shells, and seaweed which often abound on the seashore.

It was a pleasant thing to watch the ships and boats as they seemed to glide so steadily and quietly through the water. There was the sun shining and there were the birds singing, as the sun only shines and the birds only sing when I am walking. This was, indeed, the best scenery that I have seen.

all classes of people look forward to a holiday. Boys and girls especially think of New Year and midsummer as periods of the year when they will for a time lay aside their school-books and indulge almost without restraint in the games adapted for the season.

Now, let me describe how I spent my Chinese New Year Holidays. Our school's Chinese New Year Holidays began on the 31st. Jan. According to Chinese custom, New Year is the most important festival in the year. I indeed, enjoyed it very much for I am Chinese.

On New Year's eve I went out to buy things along Bonham Street East and Hilly street after taking a luxurious feast, and I came home at mid-night with many nice flowers such as peonies and daffodils.

The next morning, chairs and tables were covered with embroideries; floors were covered with carpets, flags were flying in the air; and men, women and children wore their new clothes. My father, mother, brothers, sisters, and many relatives gathered in a hall and were standing in the shape of a circle. They bowed and congratulated each other with good intents.

Having taken breakfast, I went out to visit my friends and relatives. The sights in the streets were interesting; busy crowds of men, women, and children were smiling at one another, and bowing profoundly to each other, or, in the presence of them, they congratulated each other with good intents.

During this beautiful Spring, I went on a picnic to Macao, I killed two birds with one stone, I had a chance to see the Macao inter-port horse racing.

Afterwards, when I came back to Hongkong, Mr. T. J. Price coached me and my brother for two hours in English idiomatic uses every day, during my leisure time I did my home work which was given by school masters, and sometimes read magazines at home.

Our school re-opened on the 21st. Feb.
